From first idea to final
fit

DURBAN / BALLITO / SOUTH AFRICA

A design and manufacturing partner

For more than 45 years, Country Kitchens has helped clients turn early ideas into considered, enduring spaces.

The owner-managed team combines design judgement with practical manufacturing knowledge. Projects move through one connected process, from consultation and space planning to manufacture, installation and coordination with the wider professional team.

Based in Shakaskraal, serving the North Coast, greater Durban and selected projects across South Africa.

One team, from concept to installation

01 Consult and advise

Bring the idea before the plan is fixed. We help define the opportunity, priorities and practical constraints.

02 Design

Space planning, concept development and material decisions are shaped around how the environment must work.

03 Manufacture

Joinery, spray finishing, timber work and metal fabrication are managed through our own production facility.

04 Install

Experienced teams fit and finish the work with close attention to site conditions and programme.

05 Coordinate

We work alongside architects, interior designers, contractors, project managers and specialist suppliers.

Residential interiors

Spaces designed around daily life

Country Kitchens partners with homeowners who value thoughtful design, robust materials and a complete service. Every project starts with how the space should feel and work, then resolves the storage, movement, detailing and manufacture needed to deliver it well.

We work best when we join the project early, helping connect brand, customer experience, operational flow and buildability before decisions become expensive to change.

Built in house

A well-equipped production facility gives the team direct control over quality, sequencing and difficult details.

CNC fabrication

Integrated high-end machinery supports accurate, repeatable manufacture.

Joinery and timber

Custom cabinetry and furniture are made for the specific space.

Specialist finishing

Spray painting and finishing remain under the team's control.

Aluminium and steel

In-house fabrication helps resolve bespoke structures and details.

Materials and hardware

Quality components support an enduring result.

Experience that strengthens the idea

45+

YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

Murray

Design, interior architecture, building and space utilisation. Murray sees the possibility in a space and the decisions needed to realise it.

Willie

Factory management and production. Willie translates challenging ideas and site realities into workable manufacturing solutions.

Owner managed

Experienced people remain close to the project, from the first conversation through to installation.

Practical ingenuity

Design ambition stays connected to the realities of manufacture, materials, programme and site.

Reliable delivery

Quality workmanship and careful coordination support a result made to last.

A useful partner at the start

The best time to involve Country Kitchens is before the layout, materials and service requirements are locked in.

Early collaboration lets the team test ideas against space, customer movement, operational needs, fabrication and budget. It also creates a clearer route for coordination with the wider project team.
